Our Stewardship Prayer

Generous and Loving Creator, you have called us to Maalama i ka Makana (Cherish the Gift). As disciples of your Son, we ask that your Spirit open our minds and hearts to more deeply appreciate your countless blessings. Increase your transforming spirit within us, so as to nurture our call to stewardship as a way of life marked always by faith-filled prayer, service to others and generous giving. With the kokua of St. Marianne and St. Damien, teach us to be good stewards so we may return a hundred-fold the makana entrusted to us. We pray this through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

From the Master to the Apprentice

From the beginning of His apostolic mission and ministry, Jesus amazed many. He conquered the hearts of people through His preaching and the many miracles He performed, surpassing all prophets. Jesus later would tell His apostles that they could do more than He could, saying, "Truly, truly I say to you, the one who believes in Me, the works that I do, he will do also; and greater works than these he will do; because I am going to the Father." (Jn 14:12) This Sunday, it is the turn of Simon Peter and his companions to see, in the miraculous catch of fish, a manifestation of God's presence in Jesus. After the descent of the Holy Spirit, Jesus's presence is with the apostles, and even their shadow is an instrument of healing to those who believe, and ruin to those who go against them. (Acts 8:9-24) Christ is the Master, and we are His apprentices. If we learn from Him, we can do more because of Him. Our Sunday celebration invites us to revisit His invitation to us, and to not lose confidence in the graces that He has given to us, but instead, to take courage and ask for more faith to be confident instruments of His miracle to all nations.

Saint Scholastica, Virgin

February 10

Patron Saint of nuns, convulsive children, education, and books

Saint Benedict and his twin sister, Saint Scholastica, are the male and female sources for that wide river of monasticism which has carved its way so deeply into the landscape of the Western world. Yet very little is known with certainty about her life.

The gravestones in monastery cemeteries often have no names engraved on them. The polished marble may say, simply, “A holy monk.” The anonymity is itself a sign of holiness. What matters is the body of the larger religious community, not the individual who was just one of that body’s cells. Saint Scholastica died in 547. Her grave is known, marked, and celebrated. She is buried in a luxurious sepulchre in an underground chapel of the monastery of Monte Casino in the mountains south of Rome. She is not anonymous in her resting place, like so many monks and nuns. But she is anonymous in that so few details illustrate her character. Perhaps that was by design. Perhaps it was humility. She and her brother are major religious figures whose stamp is still impressed into Western culture. Yet she is a mystery. She is known by her legacy, and sometimes a legacy is enough. In her case it is definitely enough.

Saint Scholastica, you established the woman’s branch of the Benedictine Religious Order, and so gave Christian women their own communities to govern and rule. Help all who invoke your intercession to remain anonymous and humble even when developing great plans for God and His Church. You are great and you are unknown. Help us to desire the same.
