Blessed Andrea Ferrari

Pope St. Pius-X accused him wrongly, made him suffer in silence for years, but he mentored priests who will later become popes and Saints

Andrea Ferrari was born in La Latta, Parma on August 13, 1850. In 1873 he was ordained to the priesthood and worked as a parish priest and then as the vice-rector of the seminary in Parma. In 1877 he was appointed the seminary's rector. He was also a professor of physics and mathematics, fundamental theology, ecclesiastical history and moral theology. In 1890, Pope Leo XIII appointed him Bishop of Guastalla, and then in 1894, to the cardinalate for the diocese of Milan where Andrea Ferrari remained until his death in 1921. Cardinal Ferrari participated in the conclaves of 1903 that elected Pope Pius X and of 1914 that elected Pope Benedict XV.

At the time of his appointment to the episcopate of Milan, Ferrari took the name Carlo as a middle name in honor of Saint Charles Borromeo who had also been the Cardinal-Archbishop of Milan and who was a great inspiration to him. During his episcopate he carried out four visitations of the vast diocese in the manner of Charles Borromeo. One hundred and two churches were built during his twenty-five years in Milan and he also initiated the work of embellishment and enrichment of the cathedral. He founded several associations and had a profound influence on the Church. He was however considered controversial in certain circles. During the anti-modernist time of Pope Pius X, he was unjustly and unfairly accused of Modernism. While he was no Modernist, the feeling that he was sympathetic to its tenets led to a period of poor relations with Pius X. In a pastoral letter in 1908, Cardinal Ferrari denounced certain Anti-Modernists who he said were just as bad as the Modernists. These anti-Modernist zealots discover Modernism all over the place, and even manage to throw suspicion on those who are very far removed from it. This did not endear him to Pius X and until the end of his reign, Ferrari kept silent. It is unsubstantiated that toward the end of his life Pius X said he had been wrong about Cardinal Ferrari. During the pontificate of Pope Benedict XV, Cardinal Ferrari was restored to papal favor.

Among his diocesan priests was a newly ordained curate who taught Church history at a local seminary, Angelo Roncalli, the future Pope John XXIII. Roncalli knew the Cardinal well and had great admiration for him. On February 19, 1961, which was the fortieth anniversary of the Cardinal's death, Pope John XXIII delivered a eulogy in praise of Andrea Ferrari whose words and example had inspired Pope John throughout his life. Another priest, Father Achille Ratti, the future Pope Pius XI, also came in contact with the Cardinal. Ratti had left seminary teaching to work full time at the Ambrosian Library in Milan. Ratti also succeeded Cardinal Ferrari as Archbishop of Milan after Ferrari's death. Andrea Ferrari died in 1921 in Milan. Pope John Paul II beatified him on May 10, 1987. <http://www.papalartifacts.com/portfolio-item/blessed-andrea-ferrari/>

The Narrow Gate

“The world offers you comfort. You are not made for comfort. You were made for greatness.” Pope Benedict-XVI at his homily at the Church of Sagrada Familia in Barcelona on November 7, 2010 tells us of the counter mindset that we Catholics must possess in an era of comfort and consumerism. This Sunday, the gospel reveals to us the possibility of belonging to the Kingdom of Heaven is open to all, but subject to a basic condition, that is to live a life according to the teaching of Jesus without compromise and doubts. That is the “narrow gate” that leads to everlasting life is also a difficult road, but a fulfilling journey that ends in the unimaginable happiness. Many people who live in the world alone would find it troublesome to journey towards the narrow gate, the prepare the wide road that leads to the beautiful wide gate of damnation. We are being invited by the Lord to go through the road less traveled, a life of service and faith for God.

Words of Mother Consuelo

"He calls and invites us to go to him,
and he wants us to open ourselves to Him,
and to ask from him everything we need or desire.
He is ready to give us everything if he sees that we trust Him, that we place all our trust in him
and wish to love him with all our heart."

Letter to the Mother Prioress and the Sisters, August 1938
Augustinian Sisters of Our Lady of Consolation

AUGUSTINE SAYS

DO YOU WANT
TO HAVE GOD ON YOUR SIDE? BE ON THE SIDE OF GOD.

REASONS
TO PRAY
the LITURGY
of the HOURS

- 1 THE CHURCH ENCOURAGES IT!
In the document Sacrosanctum Concilium, the Church encourages us to recite the divine office.
- 2 IT PROVIDES A FOUNDATION FOR YOUR PRAYER LIFE
As it provides a daily prayer schedule, it is perfect if you're struggling to cultivate a regular prayer life.
- 3 IT IMMERSES YOUR PRAYER IN SCRIPTURE
By praying it, you will immerse in the Psalms and readings from the Old and New Testaments.
- 4 IT FOLLOWS THE LITURGICAL YEAR
The Liturgy of the Hours provides us with a means of contemplating the celebrations of the Church.
- 5 IT'S GREAT FOR TRAVEL
Travelling can change your schedule, so the Liturgy of the Hours can bring order to your prayer life.
